

Graduate Student Travel Award

Purpose

The Department of Oceanography will pay the lowest-priced airfare for a student to attend a professional meeting in the continental United States.

Who is Eligible?

All graduate students matriculated in OCN.

What to Submit?

1. The name of the meeting.
2. A brief statement as to why that meeting was chosen.
3. An abstract of the presentation that you have submitted or plan to submit to the meeting organizers (no more than one single-spaced page).
4. The date of your matriculation in the department for your current degree.

Who Wins?

The winning student will be selected on the basis of the quality of their abstract and seniority in the department.

Who Decides?

The department chair will appoint a committee of faculty members whose students are not candidates.

Deadlines

The department chair will announce the competition in early fall each year. Normally, students are asked to submit their materials to the department chair by mid-October and the winner is announced at the beginning of November.
